President Foster Welcomes Students Back to Campus

President James Garfield in an address to the alumni of his alma mater, William College, expounded on the value of a true teacher. He said, "Give me a log hut, with only a simple bench, Mark Hopkins on one end and I on the other, and you may have all the buildings, apparatus, and libraries without him."

The point that President Garfield was making was, of course, that a brilliant teacher is more important than elaborate and ornate facilities in the education of young men and women. His point is well taken. We of the administration and faculty of Northwest Missouri State College subscribe to this emphasis placed on teaching, and we hope the incoming freshmen find this commitment to instruction in all of their classes.

However, we are also proud of our beautiful campus which graces our community. Further, we want the student body to share our pride. We believe that our buildings and grounds are among the most beautiful in the country.

Those of us who have come to love the college want all newcomers to participate in the myriad activities taking place on the campus, academic and otherwise, and to enjoy the many satisfactions that are to be secured here. We are desirous that all students develop the same affection that we have for our college and for one another.

It is a genuine pleasure for me to begin each new year. I have returned recently to the campus with my family from a rather extended journey through Europe. It was a delight to come home; I've taken great satisfaction in preparing for this new year.

Welcoming friends, old and new, back to the campus is a joy for me. So permit me to take this opportunity to offer a hearty welcome to all of our students and particularly the new freshmen.

Robert P. Foster, President
Northwest Missouri State College

Nebraskan Assumes Duties as Director Of All Activities in Student Union

Dan Greer, a native of North Platte, Neb., assumed his duties as director of the Student Union Aug. 1.

Mr. Greer, who is married and has two daughters, Tracy and Kyle, has a long record of service to the University of Nebraska in various capacities. Following his graduation from high school, Mr. Greer served in the Navy for five years. He then began his studies at the University of Nebraska and served as student supervisor of the Student Union.

After completing his studies, Mr. Greer became the university's student director of the union on the agriculture campus, one of the school's two student unions. Before coming to Northwest Missouri State College, he served as the games and night supervisor of the city Student Union, Lincoln.

Many improvements are being made in the NWMSC Student Union building and facilities. The new addition, which will not be finished until the spring semester, will be used mainly for food services. The only part of the new addition to be used for Student Union activities will be the six-lane bowling alley and the billiard rooms.

The book-store, scheduled to be moved to the Hawthorne Room, will be largely a self-service operation, with Mrs.

Peitha Johnson in charge. The snack bar will also be self-service after improvements, which will start during semester break, and Mrs. Helen Schenkel will continue to be the supervisor.

Arrangements for meetings or activities in the Union should be made with Mr. Greer or Mr. Dickey, assistant director.

Psychology Major Created To Meet Changing Demands

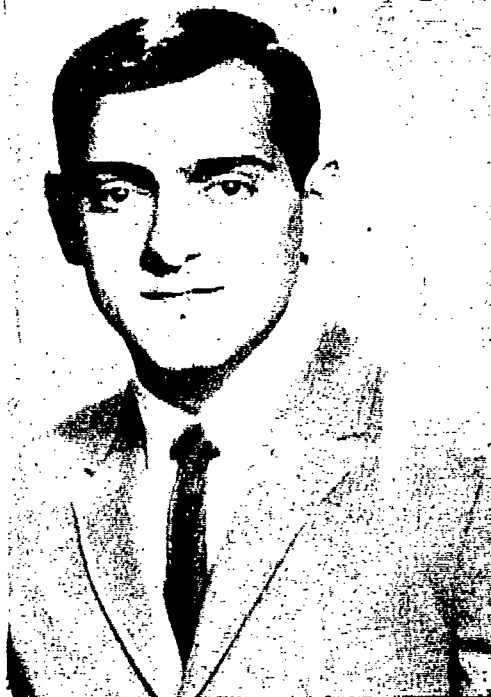

"A great shortage of psychologists in academic, clinical, and industrial fields has resulted in a great demand for psychology majors," according to Dr. Donald Smith, chairman of the Northwest Missouri State College Psychology Department.

To meet this demand, NWMSC is now offering a major in addition to the minor in the Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science degrees. With this expansion, new courses have been included in the curriculum, teachers have been added to the staff, and a new experimental laboratory has been planned for completion in the fall.

Experimental psychology, statistics in psychology, and history and systems of psychol-

Student President Says:

'Welcome to Northwest State'

I'd like to extend a large welcome to you freshmen who are beginning your college careers. Certainly, college will offer you new adventures, experiences, and opportunities for personal achievement and advancement.

Regardless of your reasons for choosing this college for your higher education, you have fallen into an elite group of our society known as the college student. For this, you deserve praise and credit. What you do here will be a reflection upon fellow students throughout our nation. Today's society demands students with a devotion to education and high morals. I sincerely hope that each of you will set new goals to be achieved while in college and that you will maintain high ideals throughout your years at Northwest Missouri State.

We count heavily upon our freshman class to make this college known for its educational benefits, and I am sure that each student will do his best to promote goodwill toward our institution. Have fun while you are in college; make it the

Changes Announced For Variety Show

In order to enlarge campus-wide participation in Homecoming activities, changes have been made for the variety show to be presented Nov. 3-4.

Entries must be sent to Donald Robertson, Fine Arts Building, by Oct. 3. Judging on Oct. 19-20 will be based on the potential of the skit. All entries will be eligible for the supremacy trophy. Winning skits will be announced at the Homecoming dance.

Each skit committee will be assigned to work with one speech faculty member, who will be in charge of the production aspects, with the right to make necessary alterations. Technical rehearsals with scenery will be Oct. 31-Nov. 2.

The variety show committee has announced that there will not be a Master of Ceremonies. Special numbers from fraternities, sororities, other organizations, and individuals will be presented between the skits.

Anyone desiring further information should contact Kerry Lafferty or George Hinshaw, Administration Building; Jo Ann Montgomery, 25 Roberta Hall, or Ray Reynolds, Douglas Hall.

Johnny and the Hurricanes To Be at Back-to-School Dance

Instrumental recording stars Johnny and the Hurricanes have been contracted by the Union Board to play at the Back-to-School Dance, 7:30-11 p. m., Saturday, in Lamkin Gymnasium.

Totally unknown in July, 1959, Johnny Paris, leader of the instrumental combo, took his group to Detroit for an audition. They were immediately signed by the Warwick label.

"Crossfire," the group's first recording, sky-rocketed and became one of the country's best sellers. Within six months the group was being featured on extensive one-night stand concert tours plus top television and radio shows. Bookers, disc jockies, and newspaper columnists throughout the country had dubbed them one of the best instrumental groups in America.

More smash records followed. "Red River Rock" became a top seller in America and England. This was followed by

"Reveille Rock," "Beatnik Fly" and a rousing revival of "Down Yonder." Then came "Rockin' Goose" and a modern interpretation of "Ja-Da."

Also included among the group's list of hits are "High Voltage," "Salvation," "Whatever Happened to Baby Jane," "James Bond Theme," "It's a Mad Mad Mad Mad World," and "Money Honey."

Johnny and the Hurricanes have toured 49 of the 50 states, excluding only Alaska. They have also played in Australia, the Fiji Islands, New Zealand, England, Germany, France, Denmark, Switzerland, Sweden, Ireland, Scotland, and Mexico.

At 22, Johnny Paris, saxophone player, has become one of the most successful young instrumental stars in the world. Paris' first and last love is his music and his group. Whenever he has spare time to devote to his avocation, it is spent with his specially-built hot rod cars.

Deans Confer

Students Enlightened, Aided By Northwest State Deans

Many Northwest Missouri State College students are enlightened and aided by the experienced service and counseling of the deans and other leaders on campus.

Dr. Charles Thate, dean of administration, has been on the staff here since 1960 and has served as a dean since 1964. Among his responsibilities are serving as admissions officer, being in charge of registration, scholastic records, personnel records, publications, graduation check sheets, and degrees and certificates.

Dean Thate is a liaison officer with the State Department of Education for the certification of various degrees, is in charge of the assignment of classrooms, and supervises computing of the faculty load.

Dr. Leon Miller serves as Dean of Instruction. Among his duties are the supervision of instruction and the development of activities that will improve the quality of scholarship. He is in charge of the general requirements for graduation and develops specific objectives and means of evaluation of all phases of instruction. He also recommends persons for appointment or replacement.

Dean Miller coordinates arrangements with the University of Missouri for the graduation program on campus and keeps a list of volunteer tutors available to students needing the help of a tutor.

Dr. Charles Koerble is Dean of Students. His duties include directing and coordinating all student personnel services and all college testing of students and the orientation programs. He serves as a counselor for students with personal, social, academic, and vocational problems, and helps to develop a well-balanced social program.

In addition, Dr. Koerble attends regular meetings of the Student Senate and serves as an adviser to the Student-Faculty Discipline Committee. He was recently appointed director of the newly instituted Veterans' Administration Guidance Center.

Miss Karen Licklider as Dean of Women counsels all women students in personal and social dress. She directs, inspects, and approves all women's housing. She supervises the directors of the residence halls for women.

Miss Licklider also attends meetings of the Pan-Hellenic Council, Associated Women Students, the Student-Faculty Affairs Committee, and serves as an adviser to the Student-Faculty Discipline Committee.

Bruce Wake directs on-campus housing units for men. He also supervises dormitory activities for men.

All of these deans are available for counseling concerning a student's personal, social, academic, or vocational problems.

Union Chairman Logan Proposes: Lectures, Activities, Tourneys

"In this next year at Northwest State the Union Board will be sponsoring most of the campus activities. We hope the entertainment, relaxation, and services we bring you will meet your expectations."

The foregoing statements express Union Board Chairman Joe Logan's goals for the center of campus extra-curricular activities.

"Entertainment such as the back-to-school dance or such festivities as Walk-Out-Day in the spring will highlight the coming term," Logan pointed out. "These planned activities might range anywhere from a guest lecturer of the Viet Nam situation to a bridge tournament in the 'old den.'"

The Union Board enjoys working for their fellow students and openly accepts any suggestions that the men and women of the MSC student body wish to express.

We hope that this next year's activities will be as enjoyable for the students as last year's planning was enjoyable for us," the chairman said.

The senior chairman has a background of varied experience for his work with the Union Board this year. He was president of the Maryville High School student body as a junior. Past vice-president and current secretary of Blue Key National Honor Fraternity, Logan is also a member of Sigma Tau Gamma social fraternity. Carrying a double major of industrial arts and physical education, he is a track letterman.

Logan is married to the former Barbara Harr, also of Maryville.

To be eligible as a candidate for chairman of the Union Board, each person must have a 2.0 grade average must have been on the Union Board for two years and served at least one of those years on the executive committee. He must be elected by popular vote in the annual spring elections by the student body.

Duties of Chairman Logan are to help fulfill the purpose of the Union Board, coordinating unity between the Executive Council and the committee members, work with the Union Director, and see that the planning of the Board goes into action.

NWMSC Spanish Students Attend Monterrey Tec Summer Session

Included in the 865 United States students and 150 supervisors at Monterrey Tec Summer School, Monterrey, N. L., Mexico, were Miss Mary Jackson, NWMSC Spanish instructor, and Trudy McCarthy, David Bell, Linda Sams, and Judy Thatch.

Miss Jackson taught a 15-member class of beginning Spanish students at the Institute and sponsored the NWMSC students, who studied in Mexico for six semester hours credit in Spanish. She reported that the academic standards are high at the Institute, which ranks with the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in the field of engineering.

Tutors aided individual students for one and one-half hours daily. Also, all students were required to take a "siesta" or observe quiet hours from 2 until 3:45 p. m. Monday through Friday.

Classes were kept small and the team-teaching method was employed in the lower levels of the summer session. In this method, a different instructor taught each hour of the four hours the students attended class.

Swimming at two pools and dancing each Friday night were provided for the students' entertainment. Another highlight was a group of excursions, three to points in Monterrey, the capital of the state of Nuevo Leon, and three to other interesting places in Mexico.

Miss Jackson reported that she, along with other faculty members, group leaders, and school officials, attended a dinner at the home of Ing. Fernando Garcia Roel, president of Monterrey Tec, where a group of Spanish musicians entertained them. Miss Jackson found the administration personnel "most courteous and cooperative."

The students, who began classes July 12, terminated their summer studies Aug. 20.

Bearcat Band Marches at Drake

Sharp Routine

Majorette Gloria Kachulis, is pictured as she polishes her knife act which she presented to fans at the NWMSC-Drake football game Saturday.

Miss Kachulis, from Council Bluffs, Iowa, twirled two machete knives and two corn knives. She developed the act with the assistance of several twirling instructors. When discussing the addition to her repertoire, she mentioned, "The knives are really sharp, though people won't believe it!"

Besides a new act, Miss Kachulis has a new costume of green and white sequins which was specially created and designed for her by her aunt.

The 1966-67 Bearcat Marching Band, under the direction of C. Ward Rounds, presented a precision drill routine at the half-time show of the NWMSC-Drake football game Saturday. The band formed patterns in motion and moved from one pattern to another with kaleidoscope effects. The musicians played "Men of Ohio" and "Sugar Bowl" during their 7-minute performance.

The 97 members of the marching band began rehearsals Sept. 12 for their first show. When discussing the trip to Des Moines, Mr. Rounds complimented the band on its performance after only a few days of practicing.

He also commented, "It's nice to start off the season with a good trip."

Bass Players Are Needed In Bearcat Marching Band

There are still openings for a few players in the Bearcat Marching Band, according to C. Ward Rounds, director.

The band needs bass players and can use more woodwinds, especially clarinetists.

The band members stayed in the Hotel Savery, Des Moines, Friday evening and were served in special dining rooms. They ate dinner at the Gold Buffet in Winterset, Iowa, Saturday after the game.

Mr. Rounds announced that the drum majors for this season are Mickey Pierce, West Des Moines, and Bill Burk, Grinnell, Iowa. The head majorette is Gloria Kachulis, Council Bluffs, Iowa. Other twirlers are Mary Keiser, North Kansas City, and Rita Sharp, Mound City. Larry Benton, Ed Roberts, and Millard Smith are the student directors.

The Drake marching band, which also performed at Saturday's game, is directed by Don Marcoulier, who wrote one of the textbooks that the music department at NWMSC uses.

Campus Organizations To Report Activities

The Field Service Office asks that all campus organizations report their activities to the College News Bureau in the Field Service Office.

Group Insurance Plan Available to Students

A group student accident and sickness insurance policy is available to Northwest Missouri State College students.

For the second year, the Transit Casualty Company of St. Louis, is underwriting the plan offered at NWMSC.

The plan protects the insured students and their insured dependents at home, at school or while traveling, 24 hours a day for the policy period. When the insured requires medical service, due to accident, the company will pay up to $500 for each accident.

"Students that have this coverage and have a claim should report to the health service office," advised Robert C. Hunter, policy administrator for the company.

Through the program, NWMSC students are getting the benefit of a policy coordinated with the college health service, and designed especially for schools of this type. The enrollment period has been extended to Oct. 1, with benefits effective on the date the enrollment card is received.

The enrollment card may be turned in to the Business Office, Administration Building, or the card may be mailed directly to Robert C. Hunter, 112 North Fourth St., St. Louis 63102.

Campus Publications Outline College Policy

The policy of Northwest Missouri State College is outlined in the college catalog, available to freshmen. Facts concerning attendance, illness, and examinations should be reviewed by all in-coming freshmen and transfer students.

Although the college has no regulation governing the maximum allowable "cuts" in a given course, teachers may use their own judgment about penalties for missed classes. Students are advised to check with each individual teacher on his policy. Students are expected to attend all classes unless they are ill, absent from the campus on college-sponsored trips, or attending to personal matters of importance which cannot be attended to during free hours.

The instructors are under no obligation to assist in make-up work of students who are absent for other reasons. Examinations and laboratory exercises missed for any other reason may be recorded as "F" by the instructor.

Any student who fails to take examinations at the time announced may take special examinations through arrangements at the Office of the Dean of Administration and the payment of a fee of $1.00. The college will provide such an examination only when there is good reason for doing so.

Negative credit is a penalty of one negative semester hour entered on the permanent record of a student. Negative credit is assessed for each day, or fraction of a day, of unexcused absence from class on the day preceding or following a holiday. Faculty members will report absences to the Dean of Administration.

Cafeteria Hours Set For September to May

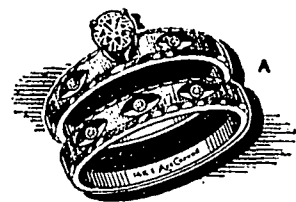

The cafeteria hours printed in the Campus Time Table will be effective from September 1966 to May 1967 in both the Union Cafeteria and the dining facilities at the new residence halls.

All students, however, will eat in the Union Cafeteria until noon, Thursday, according to an announcement from one of the cafeteria personnel.

Guest prices for meals at both cafeterias are breakfast, $.60; lunch $.90; dinner, $1.25, and Sunday dinner, $1.50.

most enjoyable experience of your life; always strive for the best, and be proud of being a college student and a part of this college.

I'll do my best to see that your life on this campus will be filled with activities and pleasant experiences that you will hold as fond memories some day. All I ask is your support and aid in making this college one of the best in the nation. We've already begun. All we have to do is continue.

Soon we will take on the responsibilities of our society. In order to do our best, we must put into effect all of the knowledge and skill that we have learned in college. Classroom studies are complex and hard, but we must realize that they are essential if we are to remain a strong nation—a nation of leaders and educators. This college is expanding tremendously, and with that expansion will come newer and better methods of teaching. We will be the ones to benefit from these.

NWMSU also presents a challenge to all of us, a challenge to set higher standards and to strive for improvement. Let's meet that challenge, conquer it, and show once again that we students never settle for second best. The Student Senate and the Union Board are pleased with the progress that has taken place on our campus, not only in the building and contracting, but also in the attitude of students. We are proud of our faculty and administrators for the improvements they have effected in our educational system. We know that they, too, are particular and want only the best institution.

It is up to us to show our appreciation by making Northwest Missouri State a proud school known throughout this nation for its educational values. I hope every student will become an active part of the school and its activities.

The Student Senate asks for the support of every student. We want to be great—we can be great—if everyone is united in the effort of progressive education.

I often wonder about the forthcoming year, and it actually scares me because I'm not sure that I'll do the best job possible. I can lead only if you students will guide me. I'll need help from everyone, but I'd like to promise you now that I'm going to do my best to make you proud of this school, the Student Senate, and the faculty. I really want you to enjoy this college and take pride in saying, "I attend Northwest Missouri State College and it's a good one."

To a Freshman

College Means Necessity, Fun, Anxiety, Challenge

Editor's note: In keeping with tradition at NWMSU, an entering freshman addressed the annual faculty luncheon Monday in the Blue Room of the J. W. Jones Student Union.

This year's address was given by Jim Whan, Maryville, who will be a pre-medical student. He was student body president of Maryville High School his sophomore and senior years. His address follows:

Dr. Foster . . . Dean Koerble . . . Mr. Erganian . . . and esteemed faculty:

When Dean Koerble first asked me to speak here today, I began turning over in my mind just what college looks like right now—not just from my standpoint, but from the outlook of every freshman. So I came up with these four main points that probably signify what college means to every freshman.

(1) College is a necessity.

Today they tell us to get that high school diploma. But with things becoming more complex all the time, in about 10 years they'll most likely be saying — "Don't be a dropout . . . stay in college. You will need a college diploma to get better jobs." Sure . . . Maybe all we will be doing in the not-too-distant future is pushing buttons, but the higher paid people will know what's behind those buttons.

College looks like a necessity, too, if we want to build a better America. It will be up to my generation to put the first man on Mars, to write better books, to build taller skyscrapers, to design faster cars, and to discover better medicines. This we cannot do with a high school education. So, for our own future and our country's — college looks like a necessity.

From my observation of college dances, ball games, and especially Homecoming, college looks like fun. I anticipate fun in making new friends and having new freedoms. There will be new things to participate in — fraternities, clubs, and other extra-curricular activities.

All these things look like fun, but they lead us to point number three.

(3) College looks like anxiety.

There are many questions that loom up in front of any new freshman. How many new faces will there be? Will I be accepted? Can I stand the increased study load? Which organizations are for me? Will I like Northwest Missouri State? As a beginning freshman there are these and other uncertainties to contemplate.

(4) Finally, and most important, college looks like a challenge — a challenge to succeed. And, as an average freshman, I know that this success will be measured in one way — by effective study. I know that if we accept this challenge by devoted study . . . we will succeed. Then we, the class of '70, can look back on college as a most gratifying experience . . . and forward to life as a most satisfying journey.

Class of 1970:

THINK

This issue of the Northwest Missourian is the first for you—the class of 1970.

This is the initial step into college life for many of you. Campus leaders, both student and faculty, are here to make your orientation session an enjoyable, but educational experience.

Throughout your grade and high school careers you have been swelling class rolls and bulging educational facilities. We know you are big. What we want to know is: Are your abilities as many as your numbers? Or is your reputation a "paper tiger?"

This week, as well as those following, you are being observed by the faculty, the administration, the citizens of Maryville, and fellow students. Throughout this orientation week they are forming a cursory opinion which will remain for some time.

I believe you, the class of 1970, realize that, unhappily, not all of you will return in January. For many, the opinion which they caused to be formed will be damning.

The illusion that you are expected to be guided by a "divine hand" is ridiculous. The collegiate community does not expect you to be perfect, nor do they expect puritanism. All work and no play certainly makes Jack a dull student, but I assure you, the reverse only makes Jack an ex-student.

Think. Think throughout this week, and then apply what acquire during your orientation. It must be realized that opinions are not something pulled out of nowhere. They are formed from personal observations and experiences. What kind of observations will the members of the college community make of you?

Editorial Staff Urges Organizations to Name Reporters Next Week

The editorial staff of the Northwest Missourian would like to have each campus organization name a reporter so that all organizations can be given complete coverage in the newspaper.

Reporters are asked to stop by the Missourian office, first floor, Colden Hall, next week to get acquainted with the editors and staff members.

The editors prefer advance news but will print follow-up stories on important activities. All organizational news will have a Friday noon deadline for publication the following Friday.

The only exception is news breaking on the weekend. It may be reported as late as 2 p. m. Monday for Friday publication.

New Regulations Deal With Infractions

New regulations pertaining to student business were adopted recently by the Board of Regents.

Returned checks—Any student having a check returned to the college unpaid shall have one week from receipt of notice from the college to clear the check and pay a five dollar service charge for each check returned.

Failure to clear the check within this time limit will result in the student's suspension from all college classes until the matter has been cleared. All repeat infractions will be referred to the college disciplinary committee for action.

Unpaid long distance telephone calls—originating from a college telephone or number—Any student making telephone calls from or charging a call to, a college number shall have one week from receipt of notice from the college to pay for the call and tracing charge plus a five dollar service charge for each call.

Failure to clear the matter within this time limit will result in the student's suspension from all college classes until the matter has been cleared. All repeat infractions will be referred to the college disciplinary committee.

Non-registration of an automobile—Any student driving a motor vehicle in or near Maryville shall register that vehicle with the college in his own name, regardless of ownership.

Failure to do so will subject the offender to a ten dollar fine which must be paid within one week from receipt of notice from the college. Failure to clear the fine within this time limit will result in suspension from classes until the matter has been cleared. (Also see misrepresentation or false statements.)

Overdue charge accounts—Any student having an account with the college which is overdue shall have one week from receipt of notice to clear the matter or be suspended from classes.

Misrepresentation or false statements on college records will subject the offender to disciplinary action which may include dismissal from college.

Kampus Komments

Enrollment for the summer session at NWMSC included 1,121 undergraduate students and 190 graduate students.

Total enrollment in the summer workshop program at Northwest State College reached 683 persons. Largest of the 20 workshops was the sixth annual cheerleader clinic. A total of 330 girls from the four-state area participated, while the average workshop enrollment was 34 persons.

Dr. Charles F. Thate, dean of administration, termed the summer program "successful."

A Recent U. S. History Institute under Title XI of the amended National Defense Education Act was conducted on campus June 20-Aug. 5.

Dr. John Harr, chairman of the Department of Social Science, directed the workshop.

Applications are now being accepted by the Missouri Highway Patrol for highway patrolmen, drivers examiners, and weight inspectors.

Applications and information concerning the requirements are available at the Highway Patrol troop headquarters in St. Joseph.

According to the Missouri Highway patrol, July was a black month on Missouri highways. One hundred and thirty-eight persons were killed on the streets and highways.

Captain John A. Berglund, head of the Patrol's division of safety stated, "It is up to the individual to do his part to see that our roadways are safe for travel. Every motorist can be a better driver by making every mile he travels the most perfect mile he has ever driven."

On the lighter side, the Missourian urges new students to learn the many fine traditions associated with NWMSC. Why not research the matter in the book Behind the Birches? You may be pleasantly surprised.

How passing fair is youth,
 Forever fleeting away,
 Who happy would be, let him be;

Of tomorrow who can say?
 —Lorenzo de Medici

Perhaps . . .

If I ruled the world, everyday would be the first day spring.

My heart and spirit and body — and yours — would be fresh, exuberant, innocent, enthusiastic, full of love.

Life would be a life, not merely an existence, more exciting and more interesting than a day-by-day drudgery.

Springtime, however, comes but once a year. And youth comes but once a lifetime. That time is now:

The time of our lives.

The time when our problems are fewer and less complex.

The time when our responsibilities are small in comparison to those that one day will face us.

The time when opportunity is unlimited, when fame and fortune are within the reach of anyone who will give second, third, and maybe fourth effort for them.

The time to make the most of.

The time when the decisions to blockade Cuba or to bomb Hanoi are theirs — they who have gone before us, they who once were young.

The time when the worst of times are better than ever before.

The time, too, when we must set our minds in motion for mind is the beginning of motion.

The time to grow, like crops during the summer.

The time when we have the opportunity to do something and to become somebody.

As spring becomes summer and summer fall, so the time will come when we will become old. . . perhaps only in chronological comparison to those who follow us. . . perhaps. . .

Editors Announce

Paper Editorial Policy

Editors of the Northwest Missourian have agreed to a policy in regard to the printing of items about controversial problems on campus and letters-to-the editor.

The staff and Northwest Missouri State College administration have agreed to publish signed letters-to-the-editor received from students or faculty members that are written in good taste, contain fewer than 100 words, and do not denounce the character of anyone. Although all letters must be signed and supported by their author, the writer's name will not have to appear in print.

The editors reserve the right to decide whether or not a letter will be printed, to condense a letter, and to use portions of several letters in a column if there are many different comments on the same subject.

The objective of the editors is to report the main facts of a news story and varied angles of a controversial matter. Readers are reminded, however, that editorials and letters are not necessarily the opinion of the staff or the adviser of the Northwest Missourian, or of the NWMSC faculty and administration.

Our board believes its readers like to form their own conclusions. We do hope to bring them background data on controversial issues.

Student Likes Editorial Policy

Dear Editors:

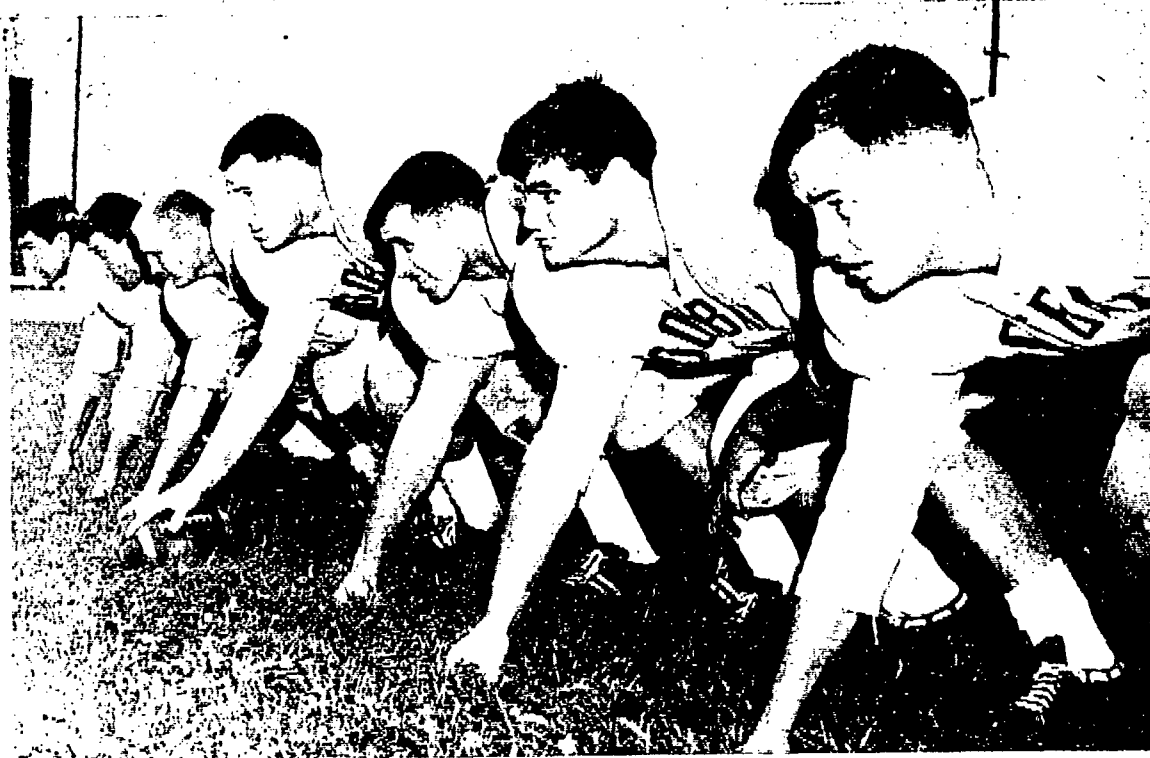

I am glad to see that the college newspaper is coming to life and adding interest to the campus rather than supporting the evident apathy on the NWMSC campus.

It is good to have an editorial page which will bring issues out in the open — issues with more than one side. That is what this college needs.

Thank you, editors!

Famous Schottel line

This awesome line-up of hard-core gridsters form the rugged Bearcat offensive line. They are Bob Albanese, end; Roger Schlegel, tackle; Jon Nopoulos, guard; Tim O'Rourke, center; Paul Meyer, guard; Larry Matiyow, tackle, and Leon Muff, end.

Bearcats to Face Peru Bobcats In Second Grid Encounter

In their second outing of the season, the Northwest Missouri State Bearcats will tangle with non-conference foe Peru State Saturday at Peru, Neb.

Last season, Maryville rapped Peru, 28-18, with a potent attack through the airways and on the ground. Bearcat Mike Crank, sophomore fullback, starred in last year's game by scoring two touchdowns in the first half.

Strength through the middle of the line and Carl Satterfield, a capable sophomore quarterback, make the Bobcats tough competitors. Satterfield passed for all three Peru tallies in last year's encounter with the Bearcats.

Outstanding returnees in the interior line include Bernie Brown, at a guard slot; John Gilmore, a behemoth tackle who weighs in at 250; Al Sullivan and John Creamer, ends.

Running out of the wing-T, the Bobcats' big threat to the Bearcats' defense will be the passing combination of Satterfield to Sullivan, and Satterfield's elusive ball-carrying tactics.

With all but one of Peru's secondary defenders from last year returning, the team should have a strong pass defense. Most of the offensive and defensive chores will be handled by sophomores, who played on Peru's finest ever frosh squad in '65.

With 30 returning lettermen, the Bearcats could have one of the best seasons in history. But head Coach Ivan Schottel is quick to point out that quite a few gaps must be filled in the offensive and defensive rosters.

Sorely missed from last season's team, which finished with a 6-3 win-loss record, will be All-MIAA quarterback Leo Pappas, who called the shots for the Bearcats for three seasons. Mike "Stick" Corbett and Don Orlowski, both junior lettermen, appear to be the top candidates for the starting role as signal caller.

Jim Blankenship, ranked third among MIAA rushers last year, Mike Peterson, and Mickey Thompson have returned to the offensive backfield for their final year of competition. Dave Bussjaeger, a two-year veteran at halfback and fullback, has returned from the service and will add depth to the backfield.

Other outstanding running backs include Joe Spinello, used mostly on kick-off and punt returns last season; Crank, a sophomore who started three games last season as a freshman, and Jim Johnson, junior halfback who is rated by Schottel as a contender for a starting position at running back or defensive safety.

The loss of Dick Hienen, an All-American center, All-MIAA tackle-end Jim Redd, and the right guard strength of Bob Rempe last year, may give the Bearcats more trouble.

Jon Nopoulos, a junior letterman, is a top contender at the right guard. At tackles, Roger Schlegel and Paul Meyer are expected to give Peru ball carriers something to worry about.

Tim O'Rourke, 230-pound center, and All-MIAA Bob Albanese and Leon Muff at the flanks round out a fairly strong offensive line.

The Bearcats lost four defensive ends last season. Marshall Tonnies and Brian Ratum, both juniors, have been the top competitors for that post. Ed Wiskowski, Bob Leach, and Ed Byron anchor the interior line.

In the period since the series began between Peru and Maryville, the Bearcats have maintained a three-game edge on the Bobcats with a 10-7-3 slate.

Experienced Coaches Direct Bearcats

With the addition of new assistant football coach Roger Donnahoo, Head Coach Ivan Schottel directs one of the most experienced and capable coaching staffs in the MIAA conference.

Schottel came to MSC after spending a successful 13 years as football coach at St. Benedict's College, Atchison, Kas. His teams at St. Benedict's won 53, lost 35 and tied 2, taking five Central Intercollegiate Conference championships.

A 1947 graduate of NWMSC, Schottel was a three-sport letterman in football, basketball, and track. In 1941, he was named to the All-MIAA Conference team as a quarterback.

After serving in both the Army and Navy during World War II, Schottel spent three seasons as quarterback and end for the Detroit Lions professional football team. He directed Atchison, Kas., High School teams before taking the head coaching assignment at St. Benedict's in 1953.

Assistant Coach Earl Baker coached at Cameron High School before accepting a coaching position with the Bearcats in 1961. As a high school taskmaster, his teams compiled an impressive 51-8-4 record and won three conference championships.

Graduated from Missouri Valley College in 1950, Baker was an All-Conference guard and football mainstay for four years. He received his MA degree from NEMSTC at Kirksville in 1957.

Until a shoulder injury forced him to quit, Coach Donnahoo was a member of the New York Titans of the American
